Chaucer appoints new senior class underwriter to grow US General Liability

Chaucer, the specialist Lloyd's insurance group, is pleased to announce that Joe Murphy has joined as senior class underwriter in the Casualty Division. He will write primarily US General Liability business through Chaucer Syndicate 1084, with a focus on larger wholesale facultative accounts, and will report to David Barber, Head of Specialist Lines at Chaucer Syndicates.

Joe is a leading senior class underwriter, with over 20 years of market experience. He joins from HDI Global SE, where he was a senior member of their team for public liability and excess lines business.

David Barber, Head of Specialist Lines at Chaucer, commented:

"I am pleased to welcome Joe Murphy to Chaucer. He brings a wealth of US general liability underwriting expertise, especially for wholesale facultative business, which, combined with the proven capabilities of our delegated authority team, provides us with a strong comprehensive GL solution for US brokers and clients."

Joe Murphy, senior class underwriter at Chaucer, added:

"I am delighted to join Chaucer's specialist lines team, and I look forward to working with David Barber and his colleagues to deliver more first class products and services to Chaucer's general liability brokers and clients in the US."
