

Chaucer Dublin Establishes London Branch

Chaucer, the specialist insurance group, today announces that the UK Prudential Regulatory Authority has authorised Chaucer Insurance Company DAC, the company's Dublin-based subsidiary, to establish a London branch to write a broad range of international specialty insurance and reinsurance business.

The London Branch, together with Lloyd's Syndicate 1084, will provide Chaucer's brokers and clients with greater platform choice and flexibility, while supporting Chaucer's international development.

The Central Bank of Ireland approved the formation of Chaucer Insurance Company DAC in June 2017.

John Fowle, Chief Executive Officer of Chaucer, said:

"The launch of our new London branch and Irish insurance platform underscores our commitment to being the smarter choice for brokers and clients, enabling Chaucer to provide enhanced specialty capabilities, greater flexibility, and easier access for business worldwide."

Michelle Moore, General Manager of Chaucer Dublin, said:

"Through Chaucer Dublin and our London branch, we will deliver the same high level of service to brokers and clients, including our market leading claims service, as with every policy written through Chaucer Syndicate 1084."
